

The Givers Dilemma

		Your Choice
		Give	Don't Give
Askers Intent	Genuine Need (Food, Shelter, Clothing)	Great choice. You may have saved a life.	Bad choice. You have condemned someone to another night of suffering, or worse
	Other (Alcohol, Drugs, Tobacco)	Oops. You may have supported someones bad habit. They're no better or worse than before.	Good choice, or is it? You haven't supported their bad habit, but you haven't helped them either

- Since you don't know the askers true intent you have a choice of either column.
Which one will you choose?
- The question is irrelevant if you would just give food, transit passes, gift cards, etc.
